Rescued Rainy Day Pups

Imagine being a momma dog, heavy with the impending delivery of puppies and you are stuck with no roof over your head in the midst of a torrential downpour. That was Rosetta's fate.

Rosetta wisely found a porch to crawl under so she could deliver her babies out of the rain. A caring human found her there and called CDHS. We were able to welcome Rosetta and her pups about five days after the birth. Sadly, Rosetta did lose one of her puppies, but five of them survived, and have called CDHS their home for the last few months.

Rosetta is the best mom around and truly loves her pups. She was so trusting of the CDHS staff who cleaned and fed and loved her up as she nursed and taught her babies their manners. She didn't even want to wean them when we told her it was time. She wanted to keep caring for her babies, even though they were becoming quite large and demanding of momma.

The puppies are very sweet and have been learning manners and social graces from their dog momma and from their shelter staff moms and dads. When helping to raise puppies, staff begins by holding them, handling their feet, and touching and petting all over their bodies to make sure they grow up comfortable with being touched and handled. They then start working on the idea of treats and how to take them nicely. Then the work begins on things commands like sit and stay. Potty training is difficult in a shelter environment, but these puppies are so smart that they all go potty on one side of their double kennel and sleep and eat on the other side. They already know what to do, meaning they should be fairly easy to potty train once adopted into their homes.

These puppies and mom were named after famous blues performers – mom Rosetta (named for Sister Rosetta Tharpe), Elizabeth (named for Elizabeth Cotten), Muddy (named for Muddy Waters), Mojo and Buford (named for Mojo Buford), and Bo (named for Bo Didley, who, while not a blues artist, was an amazing musician).

By the time this newsletter is published, we hope that puppies and momma Rosetta are all adopted. To find out, check out our website at www.cdhs.net.

These pups may not be world-class musicians, but they will definitely play your heartstrings and make you sing the song of puppy love. 🐾

Shelter Report

By Sue Buchholz, Shelter Director

The Days are Different, But the Years are the Same

Coming up with the topic for the Shelter Report usually takes some thought. Let's just say that this month, my thinker was thinking about other stuff. We dug around in some old newsletters to spark an idea for a topic, and we found an article from October of 2010. In the article, I mention time flying by. Here it is, 13 years later, and I have a new idea of what "time flying by" really means.

We always talk about every day at the shelter being very different, and they definitely are. But, as you can see by the text of this 13-year-old Shelter Report, our world remains much the same. The big things that are important are still the things we think about every day – helping animals, valuing our staff, appreciating our volunteers, and thanking our supporters. Thank you all for always being here and helping us help the animals.

From October, 2010

THANK YOU one and all!

As I write this, I feel torn. Because there is so much going on, I feel I do not have the time to devote to this shelter report. Yet you, our awesome supporters, deserve to know what's happening, even if it's just my rambling rendition. One look at this newsletter and you will see that there are always lots of activities going on. We fundraise, promote, educate, comfort and care for animals and people. It's unending. It's overwhelming. It's exhausting. It's been a long summer, yet at time it seems like time flies by. If you like action, hang around the shelter. Constant activity, ringing phones, barking dogs, purring cats, and our squawking macaw, Papagayo. Tranquil? Not so much. Yet still, a place of healing and happiness.

I have said this so many times before but feel compelled to say it again. The staff is vital but is a small part of this operation. The board of directors is vital yet is also a small part of this operation. Volunteers are essential. This past year we have held more fundraisers than ever, requiring more volunteer hours to pull it all off. We have asked much of you and so many of you have come through time and time again. Thank you is something we cannot say enough. We mean to, but sometimes fall short. Please know that your efforts, in large and small ways, are all a part of the whole and do not go unnoticed. We accomplish much but need so many people to make it happen. We do good things and make a difference for so many because of the big and small efforts of every supporter. I hope each and every person takes pride in the shared knowledge of all we accomplish to make the world a better place for all. We can never say it enough, but THANK YOU ONE AND ALL! 🐾

Boo Boo Cash Raffle Tickets Available in this Newsletter!

Please use the envelope in this newsletter to return your ticket stubs for the Boo Boo Cash Raffle, along with a check or money order, or stop at the shelter to drop off your stubs and payment. Additional tickets will be available at the shelter for purchase. By law, we are not able to charge raffle tickets on a credit card. There are three cash prizes offered for the raffle (including a $5,000 Grand Prize!) and all proceeds will be used to care for the medical needs of our shelter pets. 🐾

GIVING HEARTS DAY

Endowment Donations Have Great Tax Benefits

North Dakotans can receive credit on their state and federal taxes by making charitable donations to qualifying Endowment Funds. A gift in the amount of $5,000 will have a net cost to the donor or only $1,600. CDHS does have an endowment fund that will help us sustain our future of saving pets.

CDHS gladly provides thank you letters and receipts with appropriate language to be used when filing your taxes. If you need additional paperwork, just give us a call. If you have any questions about these deductions, please talk to your tax adviser or the North Dakota Tax Department. 🐾

Introducing Our New Volunteer Coordinator – Stephanie Santos

Hello everyone! I have had the pleasure of meeting so many of you and for those of you I haven't met, I am really looking forward to doing so! You have all made me feel so welcome and at home since I arrived.

For almost a decade I have been working with a nonprofit organization that provides fully trained service dogs to our veterans with disabilities, children on the autism spectrum and facilities who serve populations with physical and mental limitations. I managed the dog training programs as well as client services, handling everything from interviewing applicants to matching them with their service dog. In almost seven years I have trained well over 50 volunteers to train service dogs.

Prior to working with service dogs, I volunteered at my local shelter as a dog and bunny foster and as a dog walker. This is how I discovered my love for animal behavior and training. After I received my training certification, I was able to create classes designed specifically for shelter dogs and offer these classes to the volunteers. As a professional pet dog trainer, I also created a "Rescue Me" Class designed for recently adopted dogs.

I am delighted to start this new phase of my career working with Central Dakota Humane Society as your Volunteer Coordinator! As you can see from my history, my career has taken me full circle! I am excited to get started building a new enrichment program that will start with our dogs. I will need lots of help! I know this amazing crew of volunteers will rise to the task! 🐾

Our Volunteers are Pawsome! By Stephanie Santos, Volunteer Coordinator

Meet the Springer family! Here they are posing with adoptable cats Rosette and Toffee, and Mills and Nills.

This lovely family has been volunteering their time to CDHS for over three years now! We asked them some questions about why they volunteer for us and here's what they had to say:

Why do you volunteer at CDHS? As parents, we asked the kids during COVID where they would like to volunteer, and we all agreed that CDHS was a great fit for our family. We care about the animals and support the mission of the shelter. We feel that being there makes a difference with the animals and makes their days better. We like to see the animals improve from shy and scared to outgoing and happy. We get to spend time together as a family while doing something good for others.

Why is volunteering meaningful to you? We volunteer for a variety of reasons. It feels good to help out the community. After a hard day of work or school, going to the shelter is 'cat therapy.' No matter how tough the day was, you always leave with a smile on your face. It is fulfilling to see the process of change from reactive, negative interactions to positive changes with petting, cuddles and play that will lead to adoptable pets. This teaches us all a lot of patience and care. The kids use the knowledge and skills gained at CDHS in numerous 4-H projects related to dogs and cats, as well.

The Springer family

What is your favorite part of volunteering here? We all have our favorites, but seeing the cats become more socialized is rewarding. Knowing that they are being adopted and going to their 'fur'ever homes is heartwarming. We love meeting new cats, playing with cats, seeing how different cats interact with humans and other animals, and observing the cats' different personalities.

A huge THANK YOU to the Springer family for volunteering your valuable family time to CDHS – we are so lucky to have you as part of our amazing volunteer family!

If your family would like to volunteer time to our adoptable animals, please contact Stephanie at volunteers@cdhs.net. 🐾

Enriching the Lives of Shelter Pets

For those of you who haven't heard, the CDHS dog walking class has changed, receiving a new name and some new strategies, as we build a new program for enriching the lives of our shelter dogs. During the Dog Volunteer Orientation Class, new volunteers will now be taught to read dog body language, recognize signs of stress, and learn how to implement kennel enrichment and promote relaxation. These new volunteer skills will in turn help our dogs to:

Value quality time spent indoors with people. This will come in handy during those cold winter months!

More easily establish a connection with new people they meet – hopefully their furever families!

Readily offer attention or focus on the dog walkers so that new skills like polite leash walking and manners can be taught and/or strengthened. This is especially important as we prepare more of our adoptable dogs to be walked more easily by volunteers and especially potential adopters!

Alleviate boredom, frustration, and stress.

Practice fewer undesirable behaviors such as barking, lunging, and jumping.

These are all very important skills that will help our dogs not only find their forever homes but to ensure they stay there.

You may have noticed that dog walking was not on the list of enrichment activities. While dog walking remains one of the most valuable things we can do with our dogs, kennel enrichment is just as high of a priority for all the animals in our care and is a perfect task for our new volunteers to tackle as they get to know our dogs.

Implementing this new enrichment program for our animals is going to be a huge task. We will start with the dogs and work our way to the cat building. For those of you who are wondering what enrichment is, here is a quote from Animal Farm Foundation, Inc.

Enrichment reduces stress, boredom, and undesired behaviors by supporting a dog's sensory and social needs. It also adds value to your shelter dogs' lives by teaching them basic manners and giving them the confidence to make a good impression on potential adopters.

Unhappy, frustrated, or bored dogs will not show well in their kennels and that will put off potential adopters. Enrichment helps to counter kennel-induced behaviors by making the dogs' environments more stimulating and challenging. Toys, puzzles, sensory games, playgroups, and other novel experiences are perfect for this.

To prepare for the program, an enrichment station has been set up in the dog bath area of the dog building, adjacent to volunteer check-in. This station has materials to make various enrichment tools. If you would like to contribute to the enrichment station, the following donations would very much be appreciated:

- empty cardboard toilet paper and paper towel rolls
- empty egg cartons (paper pulp/cardboard only, no plastic)
- no longer needed metal muffin tins and tennis balls (these items go together!)
- bone broth (no garlic/onion/spices and low sodium if possible)
- plain, unsweetened yogurt (xylitol-free)
- 100% canned pumpkin (not pie filling)
- more food items to be added soon but will be introduced slowly to prevent upset tummies!

Additionally, we will need a dedicated team of volunteers to implement these programs and keep them running smoothly! There are MANY ways to help and many roles to fill. Here is a list of the kinds of people we are looking for:

For those of you who are crafty, there are many DIY enrichment projects we could use your help with.

For those of you who love working in the kitchen, we will need many, many enrichment food puzzles that will need to be prepped and made available daily for our dogs.

For those of you who love to plan, inventory, organize, and implement - your skills are going to be oh so valuable here! In order for our enrichment program to remain novel and stimulating for our dogs (i.e., successful) we will need a special team of volunteers who will help us stay organized and on schedule.

So, there you have it, folks. If you are wondering what this enrichment will look like exactly and when it all starts, well, the answer is entirely UP TO YOU! This program will take a village, so please call me, email me, or stop by and see me and tell me what it is you are interested in doing to help us get our new dog kennel enrichment program off the ground! And for my cat lovers out there - remember I have things in store for you too! Stay tuned...

As always, THANK YOU for all you do! 🐾

Watch for your PHANTOM BALL invitations in the mail in mid-December. This non-event is the highlight of the holiday season!

Dog Days Deals

WHAT A SALE!

How did the summer slide by so quickly? It seems we had just finished up last year's Dog Days Deals Rummage Sale, and here was another one. And what an amazing sale it was! We were blessed with so many donated treasures, an incredibly hard-working volunteer crew, and shoppers galore.

We successfully took in hundreds of boxes of donations in the three weeks prior to the sale, then sorted and stowed all the goodies. (Thank you to our intake volunteer crew. We couldn't do this without you!) On set-up day the United Way Day of Caring volunteers converged on the shelter and within four hours, they had all the stowed boxes unloaded, resorted onto tables, and we were ready to go.

The weather was kind to us, and we avoided a rainstorm so that our shoppers had plenty of days to shop and bargain for bounty. On our last day, we welcomed the community with a FREE day, making sure that all the donated items went to good homes for anyone who needed or wanted the remaining goodies.

Thank you to all – volunteers and shoppers! Next year will be here before you know it. 🐾

PRESLEY

Presley, enjoying life!!

Editor's Note: Presley had spent quite a while at CDHS. She had arthritis and several auto immune issues and was not doing well. She seemed to be nearing the end of her life and was in desperate need of a real home. A foster-hospice family came forward and welcomed her into their home. She is doing SO much better and now has a healthier life! We are so happy for Presley, and so thankful to her fospice family.

MR. BEAR

An update on the Artist formally known as Roland. He had a rebranding to become Sir William Fredrick George the III of Wales (Mr. Bear for short) He took all but 2 hours to start ruling his new kingdom and my world. He enjoys the simpler things in life, wet food and bird watching. When not actively hunting the birds through the window, he can be found sun bathing and napping, sitting and napping or just napping. He also LOVES the toys on a string and playing soccer with Pom poms. He says, I look forward to a reign as long as Queen Elizabeth the II!

Facebook and Social Media Happenings

Social media is a huge blessing to all nonprofits – allowing us to spread our messages without having to spend money on advertising, which is generally not in the budget. But the corporate animal of social media also has its drawbacks.

We encourage everyone to follow us on Facebook and Instagram because that is where you will see all of our stories, find out about our adoptable pets, be alerted to our events and fundraisers, and feel welcome as a part of the CDHS family.

Enjoy our content, but please be aware there are spam and scams and things that happen on Facebook that we cannot control. We often see fake accounts asking our commenters to become “friends.” We do delete these comments as soon as we see them and block these accounts but be wary of anyone telling you that they love your smile and want to be your friend on Facebook. If you don’t know them, don’t friend them – and if you do know them, make sure it is not a stolen account.

We also see fake accounts trying to sell t-shirts with our logo on them. Any t-shirt sales will always come directly from CDHS postings, not a fake account. Recently, we had an account trying to mimic us on Instagram, using the username “_centraldakotahumanesociety.” Exactly the same as our name, but with an underscore at the beginning. This account was even sending messages to our followers, using our pictures. We’re not sure what the scam is or what they hope to gain. We have now successfully had that account removed.

Recently, Facebook has started sending daily messages to some of our followers – directly to their Messenger accounts. These messages are automatically sent from one of our posts throughout the day and it is not something we choose to do. Of course, CDHS does want you to follow, like, and share our posts, but we are NOT interested in spamming your inbox.

It appears the people who are receiving the messages had, at one time, OPTED IN to receiving messages from CDHS. If you do not want to receive these messages, you can click/tap the Opt Out option on the bottom of your CDHS Facebook message notification for that message. Or, on your phone, you can go to the CDHS Facebook page, click the three dots (...) on the right side of the screen (which takes you to Page Settings) and turn off “Get updates in Messenger.” This will stop the daily messages.

If you have Liked the CDHS Facebook page in the past, please hop onto our page and make sure that the “Follow” button says “Following.” Facebook has changed page systems and a “Like” did not necessarily translate to becoming a Follower. Followers have the best chance of seeing all the sweet faces of our shelter critters and hearing about their stories.

Please let us know if you have any questions. We are always working to navigate the unknown parts of the valuable, yet frustrating world of social media that connects us all. 🐾

Not One More Day

Not one more day of being unwanted, unloved, uncared for. Not one more day of wondering why he felt so terrible. Not one more day to suffer with this matted fur.

Poor Merino was brought into us as a stray in very poor condition, with severely matted fur, some of which was knotted and covered with feces. We took him to the veterinarian immediately for an evaluation and were prepared for him to be sedated so they could shave him. The great folks at Heart River Animal Hospital were able to examine him and shave him without sedation.

Merino is a very sweet kitty and loves chin scratches. He appears to be blind or sight impaired but uses his hearing and sense of smell to communicate with his surroundings.

We suspect he was an owned pet because he seemed well fed. Please spread the word that there are groomers in our area that can work specifically with cats and will keep your cat well groomed and shaved, if necessary, so that they don't have to suffer in a condition like Merino.

Thank you to the folks who found him and brought him in so that he did not have to suffer one more day. 🐾

Merino
